Rimkus Consulting Group Opens Office in Nashville, Tennessee

HOUSTON, TX (May 12, 2008) – Today, Rimkus Consulting Group, a global leader in forensic consulting services, announced the recent opening of its office in Nashville, Tennessee. This office is among several Rimkus has opened this year to keep pace with a growing client base. The Nashville location will provide customers with services such as fire cause and origin, property damage evaluations, construction dispute support and resolution, vehicle accident reconstruction, and expert witness testimony, as well as catastrophic event analysis services which typically require a local presence.

“We believe the Nashville office will provide a valuable contribution by allowing Rimkus Consulting Group to continue meeting the needs of our local Tennessee clients,” said Robert Kocher, Regional Vice President. “Rimkus received substantial feedback from clients who all agreed that Nashville’s central Tennessee location offered an ideal base from which to serve their needs.”

The Nashville office will be managed by James Kreimborg. Mr. Kreimborg holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering from University of Kentucky, a Master of Business Administration from Loyola University and has over 35 years of engineering experience including facilities start-up, construction engineering, and project management.
